

Class R have been finding out about patterns. We read My Mum and Dad Make Me Laugh! By Nick Sharratt. The children thought this book was very funny as the mum only wears spotty clothes and the dad will only wear stripes. After listening to the story we made up our own patterns using different shapes. We have also been comparing sizes. The children here are making patterns with the camels.

“Remember, remember the 5th of November!” The children were very excited about firework night and some of them had been to a firework display. They wanted to make a firework picture using paint on black paper. We made a special firework display in class and it is very bright and colourful!

Class R had their first PE lesson in the hall last week and we were very impressed! We have some very skilled children who were amazing at hopping, jumping and balancing. Well done Hedgehogs and Squirrels!
